University Mourns Passing Of McGill Emeritus Professor

RETIRED IN 1930

Noted Authority Served McGill 23 Years In Department of Mathematics

With the University flag drooped at half mast over the Arts Building, members of the staff and students of McGill joined in paying tribute to Dr. Daniel Murray, at the funeral service held yesterday afternoon in the Church of St. Andrew and St. Paul.

Dr. Murray, emeritus professor of mathematics and chairman of the department, died last Friday at his home on University Street. Known internationally as an authority and author on mathematics, Dr. Murray was active until his retirement in June, 1930, when he completed 23 years of service at McGill.

Born in Nova Scotia

Born in Spotsburn, N. S., in 1861, Dr. Murray was educated at Truro Academy, Dalhousie University, and Johns Hopkins University. He was at one time connected with the staffs of New York University, Cornell and Dalhousie. He joined the McGill staff in the Faculties of Arts and Applied Science, as teacher of mathematics, in 1907. Following the death of the late Professor James Harkness Dr. Murray became chairman of the department of mathematics, and occupied that position until his retirement.

Dr. Murray was a Mason, a member of the University Club and a Conservative in politics. In religion Dr. Murray was a Presbyterian and always active in promoting the welfare of his church.

University Mourners

Among those connected with the University, who attended the funeral yesterday, were: Col. Wilfrid Bovey, Director department extra-mural relations; Gordon B. Glasco, representing the Graduates Society; J. A. Nicholson, ex-university registrar; Hon. Dr. Cyrus MacMillan; Dr. G. R. Lomer, representing McGill University Library; Professor Herbert Tate; Egan Ernest Brown, of the faculty of Engineering; Dr. John W. Ross, honorary treasurer of the university; and many other professors and university officials.

Chief mourners were the widow, formerly Alice Muriel Malloch, and a son, W. Angus Murray. The six honorary pallbearers were: Dr. Frank D. Adams and Dr. Charles T. Sullivan, representing McGill; Reverend Principal G. Abbott-Smith and Reverend Dr. Malcolm A. Campbell, representing the Masonic Order; and Colonel G. L. Ogilvie and G. H. B. Mackenzie, representing the Kirk Session of the Church of St. Andrew and St. Paul.

Following the service, conducted by the Reverend George H. Donald, interment was made in Mount Royal Cemetery.

Physical Club Plans Reported Undecided

Results of Elections at Last Meeting Announced

Securing of the best speakers, both graduates and outside lecturers, is as far as the Physical Society has progressed in its formation of the program for the following year, at the first meeting of the Society last Friday. The results of the elections for the executive of the year 1934-35 which took place at that meeting are: President, Dr. J. S. Foster; vice-president, Dean A. S. Eve; secretary, Dr. W. Bruce Ross. There was also elected a general advisory committee composed of three members: Prof. H. E. Rellie, Prof. N. N. Evans, and Dr. J. B. Collip.

As to the definite future schedule, nothing exact was decided, but there will be a meeting of the society on Friday, November 2 in the Physics building at precisely 5 o'clock. Further announcement of the program will follow. All subsequent meetings will be called for alternate Fridays at the same building. An effort is being made to cooperate with the Chemical Society so that the meetings of the two societies will not overlap.

Engineering '35 Officers

At the first meeting of the year of the Senior Engineers, held yesterday, the following officers were chosen for the year: President, John Riddell; Vice-President, A. M. Christie; Secretary, D. R. McGregor; Treasurer, M. H. Blair-McGuffie; Glass Historian, C. Robillard; Athletic Managers: Hockey, C. V. Dunne; Basketball, M. Mac.

Debating Club To Sponsor Novices' Practice Meeting

THE Debating Union Society is again sponsoring Practice Nights for students wishing to better themselves in public speaking. This series commences on Thursday evening, and is intended to encourage male students who are unpracticed in the art and wish to learn more about debating, without seriously studying it. The gathering in the Music Room of the Union will be attended by several prominent debaters. These men will criticize speeches made by the novices. Speakers will be allowed five minutes to talk. They may approach the subject from any angle, and treat the topic as they wish. A list of possible topics will be posted in the Arts Building.

The meeting will start at 7 o'clock and will not last longer than two hours. Only those not eligible for the Debating Union are invited. The chairman will be John A. McLeish.

"Old McGill" Plans Proceeding Rapidly

Photographic Contracts Let To Rice and Street Studio

MACDONALD INCLUDED

Sale of Publication to Begin Earlier Than Usual

Preparations for the publication of "Old McGill" 1935 are being pressed forward in anticipation of a much earlier edition. The most noticeable change this year is the plan to encourage art contributions from the students. Those who are interested should interview the art editor, who will inform them concerning the themes chosen for illustrations. Besides this change there will be one in the Macdonald College Section, to be announced later.

The photographic editor, Herman Cole, has secured a contract with the Street Photo Supply Co. to take all the class pictures. Class presidents should get in touch with him as soon as possible and arrange for their appointments. The portrait contract has been given to the Rice Studios, and the work of individual photographs is expected to begin sometime in December. It is hoped that all the portraits will be finished by Dec. 15.

Board not Complete

The Annual Board is not yet complete, there being a vacancy in the post of Women's Editor. However, it is expected that the vacancy will be filled shortly. The rest of the Board consists of: A. M. Thurston, Editor-in-Chief; John A. Nolan, Managing Editor; Jack Kugel, Art Editor; Herman Cole, Photographic Editor; John O. Peacock, Biographic Editor; and Douglas Amaron, Sports Editor.

The price of the Annual, as usual, will be four dollars, and this sum can be deducted from the caution money. By reason of the Annual's early publication the management expects an even greater volume of sales than that of previous years. Further plans for the technical improvement of the Annual are to be discussed at a Board meeting this coming Thursday afternoon, and will be announced in a later issue of The Daily.

'Quatre Bras' Topic Of Historical Club

The first meeting of the season of the McGill Historical Club will be held this evening at the home of Professor E. R. Adair, 493 Sherbrooke Street West. The meeting which is scheduled to commence at 8:30 o'clock will be addressed by W. S. Reid, one of last year's graduates in Arts, who will give a paper on the subject, "The Battle of Quatre Bras and the Campaign of 1815."

The executive hopes that there will be a full turnout of members for this meeting as the subject, dealing with a period which meant so much in the History of Great Britain and Europe, should lead to a very interesting and instructive discussion in the period which will be set aside for that purpose at the end of the evening. The President of the Society will be in the chair for the evening.

Commerce '38 Elections

The results of the election of Commerce '38 which were held last week are: President, Angus V. Smith; Vice-President, John K. Baillie; Treasurer, Peter Monk; Secretary, Miss Kathleen Probert.

Prominent Visitors To Address S. C. M. This Coming Month

Internationally Known Student Leaders Brought To Campus

PROGRAM PLANNED

Many Discussions and Lectures to be Arranged During Winter

Three important visitors, all outstanding in the field of education, will come to McGill sometime in November for the purpose of delivering lectures under the auspices of the Student Christian Movement. The S.C.M. announces that it intends to devote much of its time and capital in an endeavour to present prominent speakers to the student public during the forthcoming season, as such addresses are regarded as an essential part of student education.

One of the main reasons for the approaching campaign is to raise money for the very purpose of bringing these prominent men and women to McGill. The S. C. M. states that it has set the sum of $1200 as its objective and hopes to go beyond that total. The campaign is getting under way and will be held during the present week.

November Speakers

Among the speakers who will visit the University in the near future are Raymond P. Currier, of New York, who will be here from the second of November to the seventh; Dr. W. J. Rose of Dartmouth College, who will reach Montreal the weekend of the seventeenth; and Miss Margaret Kinney, Associate General Secretary of the S.C.M. of Canada, during the last week of this month.

Raymond Currier is well-known in educational circles. He spent a period of years on the teaching staff of Judson College, Rangoon, Burma. He is now Educational Secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement of North America, and has been for several years the editor of the magazine, "Far Horizons."

Currier Well-Known

The older philosophy of the transplanting of Western Civilization and culture on Eastern soils, Mr. Currier finds to be no longer applicable to present-day modes of thought. Believing profoundly in the value of a mutual interchange of views and experiences, he sees the creation of a new world society as dependent upon the co-operative effort of interested persons and groups from every race, class and nation. In addition to being responsible for the publication of many pamphlets and booklets, he recently edited a study course on "The Christian Internationalism," in which subject his chief interest lies.

Dr. W. J. Rose, of Dartmouth College, has just spent two years studying in Poland, a country with which he was already familiar from his experience there during and after the War. A Rhodes scholar from Manitoba, studying classics at Oxford and later in Berlin, "Bill" Rose found himself interned in Upper Silesia after the outbreak of the War. There he and his wife underwent the severe hardships which were born by the natives as well as the internes, and devoted

Bridge Fans Meet To Organize Club

Duplicate Bridge To Be Featured at First Meeting

Duplicate bridge is going to make its debut tonight in the Grill Room of the Union as all the ardent McGill fans of the game gather to organize a club. This is an opportunity for all those interested to show their skill and knowledge of bridge. The theory of the game is simple even though the name sounds like a mathematical formula. It is played in exactly the same way as "ordinary" rubber bridge. Each pair of players get a chance to play the same hand as the other members of the club. The hand's first dealt out are passed around and the best scores on each hand count towards the evening's win.

Luck Eliminated

Thus a new element is introduced in bridge, a real man to man test of ability, and as for the old element of luck, there is no such thing. To have a good game of this ultra-modern bridge it is absolutely necessary to have a large turnout, therefore, take heed bridge fans of McGill and turn out in full force at the Union tonight. The meeting at which organization plans will be discussed and the first game played will be held at 8 o'clock.

McGill Governors Still Uncertain Of New Dean Of Arts

UNCERTAINTY is expressed by the governors of McGill over the appointment of a Dean of Arts and Science. E. W. Beatty, K.C., Chancellor of the University, stated in an interview that thus far no successor had been definitely named; while Sir Andrew Macphail could make no statement as to the name of a professor was mentioned, but he did not know of him personally.

Since the death of Dean Ira MacKay, the office of acting-dean has been filled by Professor Woodhead. Dean MacKay died in August, and it is consequently expected that the position will be assumed by a new Dean in the near future. It is not known whether the appointment will be that of a professor from McGill proper, or whether some individual will be chosen from an outside university, as has been the case frequently in the past.

Opening Meeting Of Photographic Club Yesterday

Amateur Photographers Gather in New Organization

OLD MCGILL, which has in the past been a mother to most hobbies, good and bad, now fosters within its precincts a Photographic Club. A meeting was held at the Union yesterday and was attended by about twenty-five enthusiasts.

The purpose of the club, as outlined by Arthur M. Thurston, is to promote interest in the art of McGill by means of meetings, expeditions and lectures. This is a programme which, it is hoped, should prove popular with those students who have picturesque inclinations.

Gatherings are to be held on the first Tuesday and the third Thursday of each month. A special meeting is to be held on Tuesday, Oct. 30th, which should serve the purpose of keeping the present enthusiasm at a high pitch, and also of attracting all camera-men who happened to miss yesterday's gathering.

The serious business of electing officers will not be attempted until a couple of meetings have been held, and the members have had time to observe which of their number are the most meritorious. Notices will be published in The Daily before each meeting.

Books Donated By Terms Of Bequest

Stewart Bequest Gives Students Osler Text

Students in second year medicine recently received copies of an important book by the late Sir William Osler, entitled A Way Of Life. Each student was given one book as part of a bequest by the late Dr. Grant Stewart, a graduate in the Faculty of Medicine in 1888. This custom was instituted several years ago, and is regarded as one of the most unique and beneficent bequests in the Faculty.

A number of graduates and friends of Dr. Stewart were present at the function, held last week. Dr. Campbell Howard gave a biographical sketch of the life of Sir William Osler, touching also on some facts in connection with the career of Dr. Grant Stewart. The speaker was introduced by Dean Martin, who explained the terms of the bequest. During the period in which the books have been given, many outstanding addresses have been given by friends of Dr. Grant Stewart and Sir William Osler, several of these being given each time the presentations are made.

Assistant Cheer Leaders Needed For Saturday's Game

There are still several vacancies in the Cheer leading forces which must be filled. Any student with a lusty voice is eligible for this post. It is hoped that the ranks will be filled before the game with Western next Saturday, as the present members of the force find that they are unable to speak for days after their vocal efforts.

Any who are interested in this are asked to see Jack Waud or his assistant, Pete Bourne, as soon as possible.

Professional Men Acquire Confidence Addressing Public

Newman Club Hears Mr. A. E. Corrigan at Sunday Meeting

ASSISTANCE NEEDED

Study of Vocational Psychology Advocated to Obtain Confidence For Graduates

The necessity of professional men coming and keeping before the public eye if they are to build up their practices to any appreciable degree was stressed by Mr. A. E. Corrigan, of the Capital Life Assurance Co. of Ottawa, in his address to the second fortnightly meeting of the Newman Club last Sunday morning.

Professional men must inspire confidence if they are to attain success, and in order to do this they must address public gatherings occasionally on subjects which are thoroughly understood by them the speaker indicated. An interest in vocational psychology as a means of obtaining the interest of parents and of rendering assistance to them is one way of receiving recognition from the public and of attaining that publicity so necessary to make your professional practice a successful one Mr. Corrigan maintained.

Location Important

Not only the difficulty of becoming known and receiving support in a community was touched on by Mr. Corrigan but also the necessity of making a careful choice of the community in which you intend to locate. The location of Catholic students in Catholic communities was urged by him in order that one might obtain the support necessary to make a practice successful and also in order to set an example to the younger members of the faith.

Plans for the buffet breakfast at Krausman's tentatively arranged to be held after Mass on Sunday, November 4th in honour of Dr. William James McNally who was awarded the highest scientific degree the University can bestow, namely that of Doctor of Science at the recent Fall Convocation, were drawn up.

Political Economists To Consider N.R.A.

Pick and Zimmerman To Attack Problem From Various Angles

The first meeting of the Political Economy Club is to be held in the Smoking room of the Arts Building on Thursday evening. The topic discussed at the opening assembly of the club will be "The American N.R.A. in retrospect; a Canadian N.R.A. in prospect." The achievements to date of the N.R.A. future possibilities of the system and whether a similar system would be workable in Canada will be dealt with by the two speakers of the evening, Alfred Pick, Arts '36 will deal with the American N.R.A. while Alfred Zimmerman, Arts '35 will discuss the subject from the Canadian aspect. Both are Honour students in Economics and Political Economy.

A large turnout is expected due to the fact that at the present time the N.R.A. is experiencing a growth of adverse criticism and also that the recent Parliamentary Inquiry into the business methods of the big industries has stirred up considerable comment, both events being of interest to students of political economy.

The meeting will be an open one for all students of the Department of Economics and Political Science. Refreshments will be served later in the evening.

Newfoundland Club Gathers Tomorrow

R. L. Calder, K.C., to Address Opening Club Session

Tomorrow evening, the McGill Newfoundland Club, one of the oldest organizations on the Campus, will commence this year's session. The first meeting will take place at Strathcona Hall at 8 o'clock, in the form of a smokerette, at which refreshments will be served.

R. L. Calder, K.C., a prominent Montreal lawyer, who has addressed almost every McGill organization and many other well known city groups, will be guest speaker. Mr. Calder is well known as a public speaker.

After Mr. Calder has opened the session and addressed the club, the refreshments will be served. Entertainment at the end of the meeting will take place in the form of singing old Newfoundland folk songs for the remainder of the evening.

Fridays only from 12.30 to 1.30 p.m. until further notice.

C. Ettori, Famous French Jurist, To Address Students

THIS morning at 11 o'clock in the Law Lecture Room in the Arts Building Mr. Charles Ettori, a distinguished French jurist, will lecture to the students of the University, in French, on the subject of "La Puissance de l'Etat et la Protection de l'Individu." Mr. Ettori in view of his capacity as Maitre de Requetes au conseil d'Etat and professeur a l'Ecole des Sciences in France is considered an authority on this subject. In his address he will discuss the manner in which the individual rights of the French citizen are protected against the authority of the state. This question has been the topic of many comments in most democratic countries.

Mr. Ettori while in Canada has been lecturing under the auspices of the Institute Scientifique Franco-Canadien, dealing mainly with contemporary French institutions.

Tactical Manoeuvres Conducted By Corps

RECRUITING FINISHED

Major Pennel Satisfied With Recruits Though Number Lower Than Last Year

A letter of thanks from Lt. Col. C. F. Ritchie, President of the M.D. No. 4 Branch of the Canadian Infantry Association has been received at the Headquarters of the McGill C.O.T.C. thanking the latter for their co-operation in the Platoon Tactical Scheme on October 14th, when McGill played the part of the defending forces.

Each of the other units entered in the competition were required to proceed along a road which the McGill platoon were known to be defending and to endeavour to force them from their position. The latter took up a strong position commanding a clear field of fire on the attacking forces and at the same time well sheltered.

Attacks Repulsed

The opinion was expressed by military officers present at the exercises that under service conditions none of the attacking forces would have been successful but on the other hand would have been repelled with heavy losses.

Recruiting at C.O.T.C. headquarters is definitely over for the year, according to Major Pennel, recruiting officer. While numerically the corps is not up to the strength of last year, the Major stated that in his opinion the quality of the recruits was superior to that of the past few seasons. Those joining, he stated, were adopting a more serious attitude toward the question of military training.

Only under the most special circumstances will any further recruits be allowed to join.

Labourites Feature Medical Discussion

The problems of the profession of medicine in the light of present-day social tendencies will be discussed by W. Braisted at the meeting of the McGill Labour Club tonight at Strathcona Hall at 8 o'clock. In this discussion subjects of social importance as regards medicine in Canada will be brought up.

As this is the first meeting of the Labour Club certain officers remain to be elected and plans for the coming season will be announced. The purpose of the club is for students of the University to come together and discuss the problems of the social world. Refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

Romeo-Juliet Racket Snares Lonely Lovers

The Campus Cupid is still at large in the basement of the Union, but he is no longer hiding from the public gaze. Now truly he may hold up his head among the mighty. Can any of us combat Fate? Smiling faces in all walks of campus life testify to the happy outcome of his labours.

No longer need strong men quail and fair R.V.C.ites blanch at the impulse to seek the happy (?) estate through the tempting forms on page four, for their name is legion and they are many. The bureau himself, a genial and sympathetic soul despite all accounts from envious rivals, may be recognized anywhere by his beatific expression.

Urge Readjustment Of Monetary Value On Silver Standard

Economics Professor Addresses Local Men's Club Meeting

DIFFICULTY WITH GOLD

Wider Co-operation Among Nations Required For Recovery of Commercial System

Establishment of money values on the sterling standard was the remedy advocated for our present monetary confusion by Professor John P. Day, B.A., B.Sc., Ph.D., professor of economics in the Department of Commerce at McGill University, in an address given before the Men's Club of Dominion-Douglas Church last night. After an introduction by Dr. A. L. Walsh, acting Dean of the Faculty of Dentistry, Dr. Day reminded his audience that the future of money was not a subject to be neglected by the less worldly-minded people of our society. The speaker then covered in a cursory manner the causes and the succession of events which preceded and followed the collapse of the gold standard, such as the shrinkage of world trade and the difficulty of paying world debts.

Next mentioned were the frantic efforts of each nation to maintain economic dictatorship, as for example, the setting up of high tariffs and quotas, and the reducing of wheat acreage, the slaughtering of hogs, and the attempt to control the foreign exchange. The speaker then explained the disadvantages of this type of economy, such as the loss of personal liberty, independence and self-reliance. A better co-ordination between the various nations considered essential, instead of desperate measures by each country for the safety of that country.

Return to Credit Standard

A return to the previous international standard of credit was held necessary for the debtor nations to fulfill their obligations. Some advocate a return to the gold standard to achieve this. But there were many and varied objections to this procedure, it was stated. A better solution the speaker suggested was a sterling standard stabilized at a level considered suitable by British economists which would be supported primarily by Britain, and Sweden, which is a financially sound country, and whose money has been in a fairly stable relationship to the English pound for the past ten months. These countries will then gradually include other countries into this scale of values, and thus widen this arrangement into a stable sterling bloc.

Marguerite Weston '38 Named Winner Of Bruce Award

The winners of the Robert Bruce scholarship and bursaries have been announced. This scholarship fund created by the will of the late Robert Bruce has an annual value of $100.00, tenable for three years, and has been awarded to Marguerite Weston, '38. The list of successful candidates is as follows:

Davis, John Frederick, 1st year B.Sc., 3447 Wilson Ave., Montreal, $100 Bursary; Hall, John Herbert, Engineering '38, 2559 De La Salle Ave., Montreal, $50 Bursary; Hawkins, S. Christopher MacLean, 2nd year B.A., 630 Prince Arthur St. W., Montreal, $50 Bursary; Mason, Stanley G., Chemical Engineering '33, 2187 Clifton Ave., Montreal, $50 Bursary; Weston, Marguerite Ursula, 1st year B.A., 1538 Burnside Place, Montreal, $100 Bruce Entrance Scholarship.

The fair are the favoured; but don't despair, brunettes, you, too, are in great demand. The Bureau has already become famous in other Universities. Reports of its successful work have spread throughout the land and have aroused the envy of sister universities who have not yet reached that stage in their growth where they feel the date bureau-ismness creeping over them.

Timid inquiries have been made with the idea of snooping out the possibilities of establishing an international date bureau, which, said rumour, will ultimately replace such antiquated institutions as universities proper. In other words, the date bureau looks forward to a 'gorgeous' future. (Note: Male point-of-view adjective used. Females substitute 'handsome'.)

The Late Dr. Murray

It is with sincere regret that we note the passing of Dr. Daniel Murray, who for many years was chairman of the Department of Mathematics at McGill, and latterly emeritus professor. To the majority of the students new at McGill his name is unfamiliar, but to all those who are now taking courses in medicine or law, and who obtained their arts degree from McGill, his face and kindly manner are still a vivid memory.

Doctor Murray came to McGill in 1907 as a member of the Department of Mathematics. For more than twenty-three years he served faithfully in this department, culminating his career there as Head of the Department of Mathematics, succeeding the late Dr. Harkness. Upon his retirement in 1930, he was made emeritus professor.

The late Dr. Murray was internationally known for the contributions he made to the science of mathematics; his books covered many phases of the science. He was a prominent churchman of the Presbyterian persuasion, and acted for many years as an elder of St. Andrew and St. Pauls.

A sincere and touching tribute was paid to his memory by the Rev. Dr. George H. Donald, which we can do no better than repeat:

"Speaking of his character, he was a man of almost unbelievable sweetness of disposition and charm of manner. He had a scientific mind and very definite opinions, but withal he was tender as a child, overflowing with sympathy, unassuming, gentle, winsome. His religion was not a thing of words and emotionalism, but evidenced in the daily round of common life. Perceiving his work and his duty, he devoted every ounce of his energy to their fulfilment, knowing in Whom he believed. He was so essentially real, so frankly genuine, so far removed from make-belief or pretence, and so quietly yet proudly determined to show his manhood adequate in the face of all happenings and things.

"He was a great Christian, a gallant gentleman, gracious, courteous, and considerate, a pattern of gentle manners and of simple, unaffected piety. Added to these qualities, he was marvellously youthful in his outlook; fresh and vigorous and full of joy of living; and sure of his foundations, which were solidly laid on the Rock of Ages. He was beloved by all.

"For us who remain there is indeed the sorrow of parting with one we held in such affection, and the inevitable sadness that dwells in our consciousness that with him has departed from us something of the inflexibility of character, the sweet and charming bearing, the God-fearing simplicity of heart and the chivalrous, old world tradition of life and manners which, we regretfully own, seem more akin to an earlier age than ours.

"Wherever in God's keeping he lives today we may be sure that opportunities for his gifts and capacities will still abound.

"To his wife and son and other relatives we as a congregation offer our deep and sincere sympathy.

"Father in Thy gracious keeping, Leave we now Thy servant sleeping."

S.C.M. Financial Campaign

THE beginning of the college year forces every student to find an answer to the question of how he can divide his time between curricular and extra-curricular study and activity so as to gain the maximum of enjoyment and value from his swiftly passing college days. The University provides the formal elements of education and requires every student to do at least a minimum of systematic study and work. The informal side of University education is made available through the facilities and activities of voluntary clubs and organizations of students which are indispensable complements to the curriculum.

Genuine friendships between groups of students and faculty members, informal study and discussion with other students where one may learn to think and formulate intelligent opinions about the problems of economic, social, and religious life in the world today, and a varied program of dances, parties and athletic events wherein real friendship between men and women is possible,—these are some of the values which the extra-curricular part of University provides.

The Student Christian Movement has a wide program of activities planned and conducted by students which make these values available for all McGill men and women. The importance of their work is recognized by many faculty members and students whose opinion might be summed up by the following words of our Chancellor, Mr. E. W. Beatty, in a recent letter:

"We are all familiar with the platitude that it is not so much the formal education gained at a University which is of lasting benefit to the student, as the development of character and intellect which he obtains from his years of contact with hundreds of others of his own age. Working along this line the Universities of every country are actively striving to increase the student's share of his own education, of his own social development, and of his entire University activities. How much is it to be desired then that in the all-important sphere of his own moral development there should be an agency of community effort which is not only carried on by the students themselves, but which from its very inception has been directed by student enthusiasm?

"It gives me very deep and sincere pleasure to do anything which lies in my power to stimulate interest in, and support for, the Student Christian Movement in McGill University."

The S.C.M. is now asking students and faculty members to share in the financial support of the program, and to join more fully in the activities for the present year. The Movement deserves the cordial support of all McGill men and women.

MOVIE REVIEW

ALEXANDRE DUMAS'S famous 'Count of Monte Cristo', a story that has brought pleasure to countless thousands, does not disappoint one in its movie-tone version. Although slightly altered from the story that first found popular favour with the masses, the movie version pleases both as a story and for the well handled roles of the caste.

There is plenty to thrill one in this picture of Napoleonic and post-Napoleonic France, but nothing more so than the gripping scenes portraying the hero's sojourn in the underground cell of the Chateau D'I.

Robert Donat as Edmond Dantes lives up to expectations and makes his role a living one. Elissa Landi as Mercedes is very appealing in the early stages but does not measure up to her usual standard in the later role. The rest of the caste is of a high order.

'Look for the Silver Lining', a comedy, and News complete the bill.

FROBISHER'S FROLICS

Dear Ma:

Well, I have been leading a very active life these last few days. The other night I was talking to Gladys—it was just after dinner—and I suggested that we go to a movie. But she said that this man she was so afraid of—I told you about him in my last letter—would never think of letting her go out with anyone but himself. So then I guess I must have looked rather despondent, for she said, 'Cheer up, toots. Take yourself over to the Mock Parliament, and have a good time.' So I thanked her, and went, thinking to improve my mind.

I arrived in the hall a little bit late, and found the speeches in full swing. I asked a boy sitting next me what the topic of debate was, but he said he didn't know, so I worried about it no further, but just made myself comfortable and settled down to listen to the arguments advanced by both sides. Some of them were very good—I was particularly impressed by the various speaker's accents. I noted seven English ones, two Scotch, and one New York. The others were more or less nondescript. But the way those young men could go into flights of oratory was little less than miraculous to me; I give you my word some of them actually waved their arms about and gesticulated wildly. But the speeches were, nevertheless, very interesting.

It was startling to me to note that, every so often, the speeches turned from speeches into series of disparaging remarks of a personal nature, directed against the speakers of the side opposing the orator who was making the remarks. As some of them were very funny, and many of the speakers themselves much embarrassed upon rising to give their views, I was enjoying the proceedings immensely when I was suddenly brought up "all standing" by a young man who spoke for the negative. He said that the government of the United States had proved so inefficient and corrupted that he, for one, could see no possible advantages for Canada, and indeed many disadvantages, in the States' taking over Canada.

Now, Ma, both you and Pa know that I am a good loyal American, but I was forced, nevertheless, to admit the justice of his argument, and I was quite prepared to cast my vote for the defeat of the motion—"should the States take over Canada?" But when the Speaker of the House, who runs the affair, got up and announced that a vote would be taken upon the subject, "Resolved; That the Salvation of Canada lies in close Economic Union with the United States," I didn't know what to do, for I had heard no arguments at all on that subject. And by the time I had collected my thoughts sufficiently to make up my mind, the meeting was adjourned. So I went home.

It is already eight-thirty, Ma; and, since I was up so late the other night—I didn't go to bed until twelve, but please don't let Pa know—I must make up for it by going to bed earlier than usual for a few nights.

The shirts have arrived. Thanks a lot. All love to you and Pa from your sleepy and loving son,

FERDINAND WILBURFORCE FROBISHER.

AN INTERVIEW

By C. W.

In these unsettled times, when so many university graduates find they have no work to do, the career of one who has been unusually successful arouses interest. The writer, therefore, was more than willing to interview Dr. Leon Edel, especially because it is in the newspaper world that he has made his mark, the world of which the writer hopes some day to be a member.

For many years with the McGill Daily, where he was News Editor, Dr. Edel graduated from Arts '27. For a while he was assistant in the English Department; later, as holder of a Provincial scholarship in Paris, where he obtained his degree of Doctor of Letters, he was also the "Daily Star" correspondent for that city. Returning to Montreal he worked on the Herald, where he was Dramatic Editor; last year he was appointed to the Agence Havas in New York, an international news agency with world-wide ramifications.

After hearing some interesting accounts of the earlier days of the Daily, the writer somewhat haltingly asked the following question:

"Is the editor of a city newspaper the hard-boiled, hard-hearted, skin-flinted person he is generally pictured to be?"

The answer described in a nutshell the whole position of the newspaper world of to-day.

"Journalism," Dr. Edel replied, "in spite of the movies, is no longer the product of hard-boiled, wise-cracking, tough-minded, alcohol-soaked newspapermen. It has become a scientific, well-documented, proficient, news-gathering machine, in which the university-trained man plays an increasingly important role. It demands good writing, even brilliancy of style, clear-mindedness, and is one of the most exacting of current professions, if we may use so big a word to describe so arduous a labour."

"That particularly applies," he added, "to handling of foreign affairs; it seems to me that the McGill Daily could greatly benefit if it could learn the way a news agency works."

"No doubt a high standard of efficiency is demanded to-day," added the writer. "Does a college education help in any way?"

"Yes," was the reply; "The need for carefully trained, accurate and astute newspapermen is greater than ever before in a world in which the freedom of the Press is constantly menaced, and in some countries non-existent. In all countries where dictatorships flourish, freedom of the press is restricted. Erroneous reports emanating from abroad are due to this suppression and restriction."

"I suppose," was the next question, "that under the circumstances it must require great courage and ingenuity to be a correspondent in a foreign country?"

"Yes, indeed. Wade Werner of the Associated Press, and Geddeye of The Times, are conspicuous examples. On July the 25th, when Chancellor Dollfus of Austria was assassinated, they were able to give the world a complete, coherent, and authentic account of events by staying right in the scene of fire. When they had everything ready they discovered that the Austrian frontier was closed but that did not deter them. Jumping into an automobile, they crossed the border to Czecho-Slovakia, and telephoned the whole account to London."

"Is the McGill Daily of any help in training one for reportorial work?" was the next question.

"There is no denying that the Daily gives a very fine training in newspaper work. At the same time, however, Daily reporters should realize that reporting meetings and interviews are the A.B.C.'s of work; college activities are limited in scope."

"Have you any recommendations to make for improving a college paper?" he was asked.

"What the Daily could do is establish an inter-university press association to help link the university students of all Canada. Journalism, like any other business, has learned to dress its wares; everything is neatly put and arranged. That is particularly the case with some of the better New York newspapers. While keeping all these things in mind, a college paper should model itself on well-formed morning papers, and be journals of information and discussion, and not sensation sheets. A judiciously edited Daily can be more than a glorified notice-board."

Dr. Edel related some amusing reminiscences of the Daily of some nine, ten years ago. At that time, R.V.C. students did not form a part of the news staff in the Union. All their activities were reported and written in the R.V.C. building, under the management of two R.V.C. editors and some few reporters. Every evening some young man or other would come to get the news, waiting for it outside, often shivering with cold, until some co-ed handed the envelope through the partially-opened door.

The speaker was pleasantly surprised to hear of the active part which the co-eds were taking in the publication of the Daily, saying:

"It is the right thing for them to do; for in the newspaper world women are certainly doing some great work. There is, for example, Dorothy Thompson, the wife of Sinclair Lewis. She is one of the ablest, most brilliant writers of the press-world of to-day."

SEEN and HEARD

By Cam (Puss) Swinchell

(Nine o'clocks must be endured. The audience clamored for some really low stuff. So enter, once more, and bowing gratefully, A Dirt Column.)

This Week's Sap: The night gal who, on being escorted by a Junior after the Rugby Game with Queen's, wanted to know why they called it the Pitt? ??? (Ask Panegyricus. He had bitter memories last year.)

The Daily is fast becoming a pseudo-Marriage Bureau, and will probably soon exceed the Players' Club as a means of getting next to the cute young things. And all because our local scribe of the air waves felt the burning urge to play cupid. With that mustache?

And, too, did you know that one of our prominent med. students and would-be Freudians has proffered his professional services? Yeah. For a ten per cent cut.

Rawest Crack We Heard So Far Limited: "So

Judy Seidled up to me" (Use your own anaesthetic.)

And where does the famous thirty per cent cut in the Date Bureau funds go? Does cupid need a little oil for his own heart throb?

Didst notice that a couple of campus personalities once much in the limelight, of Philadelphia Society and Water Polo fame respectively, have seen the love-light in each other's eyes. And they are radically renovating each other? And that the experiment is greatly successful? More power to you both!

Also that a sidekick of the latter of the above is busy garnering the troussseau for that march to the altar? Yeah, verily, one of our former creditors of Black Sheep memory will do the middle-aiding.

I Wonder What Became Of: (With apologies to Mark Hellinger) One very silver toned tenor who used to haunt the Union Pool Room? Why is he not at McGill? And what was all that ballyhoo about "the wife?"

One of our local broadcasters has brought it to our attention, that fast work was necessary to avert catastrophe when one of our brilliant students became emotionally embroiled this summer. Why pick Ste. Agathe?

Reverting to our One-and-Only Campus Date Bureau, the stock in trade includes four chorus girls from a show on the Main Stem who are most definitely not receiving a higher education. And what can the poor assistants to Eros do about it? The lim forms on the right, boys.

The greatest gag in years from our campus sheet, to wit, "Career Of Scottish Journalist Depicted By Granfather" was committed by a prominent spacefiller on the same sheet. Our budding columnist (and not a bac spacefiller for a college daily) has a penchant for taking cracks at others. Can he take a crack at himself?

Tallest Story Of The Week Club Says: one racoon coat to another at the recent rugby tilt. "We get it so cold up in Churhill, the Humane Society has to clear icicles off the dogs' noses." ("The other muses and comes back "Yeah but I can remember taking a pail of hot water out to wash the steps of our house in Aklavik, and the darn stuff froze so fast, the ice was still hot when I touched it." Ho-hum!

(This is a barefaced lie. But perhaps someone in the audience will hold to keep the idea alive in spite of our great editorial gag, apathy. C'mon break down and confess, can you do better? You try writin' the darn thing!)

More from the Date Bureau. Who is the six footer from McCullough Ave. who states as his amusements Cookie pushing and ping-pong, and who specifies dimples on his date's knees? And Why?

Piece de Resistance Who owned the Johnny Walker, if our trained nose tell us the brand, that was extracted from beneath one of the lockers in the Arts Building the other day by one of Bill Gentleman's able assistants? And why did he ditch it there?

And so the curtain falls. All communications are to be addressed to the Feature Editor of the Daily, who will deliver same to us in the Boiler Room of the Medical Building some ripe mid-

Intermediate Track Team Prepare For Intercollegiate Meet

R.M.C. and Ottawa University Offer Strong Opposition
REDS DEFEND TITLE

McGILL'S intermediate track squad will attempt to carry on the good work of the senior team when it tackles R.M.C. and Ottawa University in the fifth annual intermediate intercollegiate track meet, which is being held at Molson Stadium on Friday. This meet which was not held last year when the premature winter covered the track with a blanket of snow before the date of the meet, is one of two held by the intermediate union, the other being staged between universities in the western section of Ontario.

The Red team will be defending the title this year which it gained in 1931 and retained in 1932. Coach Van Wagner has a strong field to put up against the starry R.M.C. and Ottawa aggregations, and the prospects for a victory are bright. The McGill team will be represented in all of the fifteen events, as will R.M.C. Ottawa University on the other hand has entered only three competitors, Nixon, Corcoran and Courtwright but these men are competing in nine events, and all are recognized stars in their events.

McGill Men Strong
For McGill, Wisdom who was with the senior squad last year should be a certain point winner in the low hurdles and the quarter mile. Denton is the pick of the sprinters and from the form he has shown in practice sessions is favoured for points. Derry is the pick of the Red half milers, while Crowley and Schecter are first rate milers. Bert Love has high hopes of shattering the pole vault record, which he has equalled on several occasions. Rodl, Wolhouse and Kalfas are the pick of the weight men and all should do well in their events, especially Kalfas who was a candidate for the senior team. Smith and Calder in the jumps are McGill's best. Smith is a brother of Irv Smith, McGill's senior high jumper who took second place in last week's meet.

Nixon Well Known
The strength of the Cadet team is uncertain, but the Red and White men from Kingston can be counted on to furnish plenty of opposition for the local forces. The Ottawa men are better known, especially Courtwright and Nixon, both of whom were candidates for Dominion titles at the meet in Hamilton last spring. Nixon, a former Globe man is well known in Montreal where he was a standout for several years at the interscholastic meets. Courtwright is one of the leading weight men in his district, especially in the javelin throw where he excels.

Juniors Win 6-1: Seniors Play 3-3 Tie

Elliott and Percy Brilliant In Juniors' Victory

McLEAN SCORES TWO GOALS FOR SENIORS

Freeman and Shapiro Show Form in Senior Game

McGILL'S powerful junior water polo aggregation took their second win of the season when they decisively defeated the Columbus White squad by the score of 6-1 in the opener of last night's scheduled double-header. Powell captained the seniors in the first minute of play when he let loose a hard shot from close in which gave goaler Henry no chance to save. After this score Columbus never threatened seriously and McGill swept on to an easy victory. Elliott continued the scoring with the game's most sensational shot midway through the first period. Immediately after the face-off Elliott repeated his performance of a moment before this time carrying the ball from centre-pool to score easily unopposed. Percy, playing a stellar role, added two well-deserved counters in quick succession to end the session.

Columbus Scores
The second frame opened with Columbus on the aggressive, and after a few minutes of play B. Henry pushed home his team's lone counter. Columbus continued to press hard, showing a superior brand of polo, and only the steady work of Gilmour in the nets saved the Redmen. In the latter minutes, however, McGill regained control and the game ended with the Red team in possession deep in Columbus territory.

The Red seniors, in their first appearance of the season, battled the heavier Columbus squad to a three all deadlock. McGill started the scoring early in the game when Gordie McLean capitalized on a break for the team's initial counter. The play continued with both sides unable to secure an advantage until later minutes, when Gagnon banged in the tying point for Columbus with a hard back-hand shot.

McLean Evens Score
McGill defended the shallow end in the last half but in spite of this advantage Columbus continued to carry the play. Gagnon again shone, adding two counters, to put his team in an apparently impregnable position. The game seemed "in the bag" but Bob Freeman scored on a solo effort to put the Reds within striking distance. A scant few seconds before the closing whistle Shapiro fed Gordie McLean a perfect pass which the latter deflected into the nets on the best play of the

Boxing, Wrestling And Fencing Clubs Open Hostilities

B. W. & F. men have started an intensive season of training for the meet to be held at Queen's this year. The Redmen are intent upon bringing the prized title to the Union's halls this year and imbued with the spirit of the thing have started in their training early.

The Wrestling Club boasts a fair turnout of novices and veterans, although more of the latter could be seen at the M.H.S. Boy's Gym to advantage. Charlie Stewart, 200 pound terror of the mat, is expected out daily. His performance last year gives Coach Saxon much to look forward to in the heavyweight end of the mat program. Myer Goldman, 145 lb. man, and former intercollegiate, title holder, plans to wrest back his laurels in the coming campaign. A former grappler, Schlesinger, plans to make things hot for contenders in his weight. Billingsley has been seen on the mat and his condition is already showing to good advantage. He is in the 165 lb. class. Jack Barza and Harry Nutik, both in the 165 lb. class are also expected to turn out regularly. Don Black, 125 lb. and Tommy Southwood, 118 lb. are out in earnest.

Boxers Active
The boxing end of the B. W. & F. seems to be holding up its end of the campaign, although things haven't really warmed up at the glovepushers' camp. Turnouts of about 20-25 are reported by Manager Johnny Spratt, largely made up of promising novices. Tommy Watson and Billy Moran, 125 lb. men, are out for an intensive season's work. The boxing outfit lost a great fighter in George Maughan, Olympic heavyweight boxer, who has graduated.

The fencers are planning to run off with the foils honours this year again, having done so for the past five or six years, in neat fashion. Their win this year will mean much more to the Red cause owing to the fact that a win in the fencing end of the B. W. & F. meet gives the Redmen three points rather than a single point as has been the case in the past. Bert Wiggers will probably find time from his arduous hospital duties to turn out from time to time to keep his splendid lunging form intact. Herb Chapman, former Harvard foilman will also probably put in an appearance. Bill Perrault, Law freshman and team member for the past three years, with the exception of last year's entry, also plans to turn out. Fabbro will also take time out to keep his blade sharp.

Competitions Planned
The manager of the B. W. & F. plans to have the boys in more city competitions than has been the case in the past, and engagements with the M.A.A.A., Y.M.C.A. and Y.M.H.A. clubs will be arranged.

Hockey
All interested in hockey are asked to attend a meeting in Room 15 of the Arts Building today at 5 p.m. A full turnout is requested so that practice hours may be arranged to suit as many as possible.

SWIMMERS
McGill students wishing to swim may do so at the K. of C. tank on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 5.30 p.m. The coach will be in attendance as much as possible to give instruction. There is a towel fee charge of fifteen cents.

Co-Ed Track Meet Slated For Friday At Upper Stadium

Man Entries Expected For Annual College Meet

BASKETBALL PLANS

FEMALE athletics come to the fore at the end of the week when the co-eds of R.V.C. and M.S.P.E. join forces to engage in their annual track meet at the Upper Stadium this Friday afternoon. The opening event slated to be run off at 2.00 o'clock. Entries from all years have been coming in, but Manager Eileen Crutchlow expects more to be listed before the meet. It is emphasized that freshies especially are expected to enter the events and show their mettle.

Among those already entered in various events are: Lorraine Strachan, Jane Smart, Helen Burrows, Edith Wallbridge, Rita de Pierro, Jean Reid, Betty Murphy, and Eileen Crutchlow.

Officials Named
The officials for the meet are the Misses Slack, Harvey and Goulding. Babs Goulding has not seen fit to enter the meet owing to a leg injury which she is nursing in preparation for the hockey season.

The events to be run off are: 100 yard dash, 60 yard dash, quarter mile relay, javelin throw, basketball throw, high jump.

Practice Hours
Practice hours have been set for today and Thursday from 12.00 to 1.00 p.m. Athletic managers of the various years are expected to muster relay teams.

Eileen Crutchlow requests an early and large turnout of co-eds interested in playing basketball. It is thought that a team might be entered in the City Loop in which case the co-eds would play against Y.W.C.A. and M.A. A.A. The sooner the basketballers get started in their preparations, the better the team likely to result.

SPORTS NOTICES

BOXING
Boxing practices are being held in the Montreal High gymnasium from 5 to 6 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Coach Bert Light is giving classes in physical exercises as well, and urges all interested turn out.

WRESTLING
Wrestling practices are held in the Montreal High gym Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons from 5 to 6 o'clock. No previous experience is necessary, and anyone interested is urged to put in an appearance at once.

BADMINTON
There will be a meeting of the Badminton club today at 1 o'clock in the reading room of the Union. This is for the organization of the group to play

Law Lions Roar For Arts Gore-Rugby Tilt Today

PICKITUPANDRUNLIKE-Hell System to be Used Exclusively.

(Special to McGill Daily)

MUNICIPAL GOLF CLUB, Oct. 23.—Its training virtually completed for the game this afternoon, the Law Lions football team, scourge of the interfaculty league, engaged in a brief session at the bar with Coach Alfie Savard this morning. The Lions are set for another win, their second of the season.

Law is the first interfaculty team to follow in the footsteps of the McGill senior team in attending to preliminary training at a golf club. It is believed by the Law Brain Trust that equally beneficial results will accrue to the Lions. Judging from the way in which the Lions have been playing golf, ping-pong, and parches, the scourge will be right in there. Of course the boys have played no football, but having enjoyed their holiday tremendously, the Law short shift looks better than ever.

Recognized as the leading Black Horses of the interfaculty league, Law has built up its offence largely on the Pickitupandrunlikehell system, featuring a floating centre and three floating ribs. Strengthened over its last appearance in which it nevertheless trounced Commerce, the Law machine has been soundly drilled in the rule-book. The Lions claim to have several interpretations of the rules which will leave the officials gasping.

Further details concerning the Law attack were explained to the press, but due to the secrecy of the plays they cannot be made public. The members of the Arts team when interviewed remarked in a body that they are one and all prepared for the fray, and will play under the Roman or Civil Code. Several leading advocates and classicists will be on hand to untangle the proceedings. These, along with Johnny Bennett, should prove sufficient to keep the slaughter well in hand.

THEOLOGY SOCCER PLAYERS WIN FIRST INTERFACULTY TILT

Arts-Commerce Lose By A Score of 2-1

YESTERDAY afternoon saw the opening game of the Interfaculty Soccer season when the Theological students played the combined Arts-Commerce team.

The Theology men managed to overcome the Arts-Commerce team, the final score being 2-1. Both Rudd and Northcott, scored goals for the Theology team, while Smart put the ball past the goaltender to bring Arts-Commerce their single point.

Enthusiasm Shown
Though actual science may have been lacking, the enthusiasm shown by both sides certainly was not. The game was ably refereed by J. Fitzpatrick. The line-up for yesterday's game was as follows:

Theology: Bergeron, Kelloway, Foggo, Buchanan, Burt, Davis, Lambert, Northcott, Machin, Rudd, Lynn.
Arts-Commerce: Luxton, Layton, Johnson, Cannell, Simpson, Baranofsky, Smart, Dublet, and Prince.

themselves to the relief required especially at the close of the conflict.
Authority on Germany
 From his experiences during the years following the War Dr. Rose is an authority on conditions in the Polish Corridor and the neighbouring Germany, as well as in Central Europe generally. He is an old friend of the Canadian S.C.M., and had paid almost yearly visits to McGill until his departure for Europe two years ago.
 Miss Margaret Kinney was but recently appointed to her new position, replacing Miss Gertrude Rutherford. Miss Kinney spent the past summer in England and Europe, and attended several significant international student conferences. She is a graduate of the University of Alberta, and spent last year visiting all the Universities of Canada for the S.C.M. She will be paying her first official visit as Associate General Secretary to McGill in the latter part of November.

 To John Hutchins, my victor, I can congratulate him in no better terms than those expressed in a recent judgment of Shapiro vs. O'Tolle (2 SCR 453) by that able and learned jurist, Rinfereau C. J. During the argument at the bar in this case, his Lordship had occasion to remark "Attaboy John."
